Built into volcanic rock the Villa Io once served as the village school for the local children. Today the interior is all white in Santorini-style with beautiful arched interiors and traditional polished cement floors. Tasteful and partly antique furniture as well as exceptional accessories add a special and sophisticated atmosphere to the villa. The farm-style kitchen is large and fully equipped with modern appliances, an antique dining table and beautifully crafted chairs. A staircase leads up to a delightful den with 2 single beds. The ladder is best suited for children over 6, due to its size, narrow access and the sense of loft hide-away. In addition, the villa offers 1 double-bedroom and 1 single-bedroom. Through an arched passageway one will find the comfortably appointed living room with doors leading to the outdoor area. The private pool, the hand-laid cobbled courtyard and charming furniture provides the perfect outdoor space for hot summer days. Within a short stroll from the village square, Villa Io ensures tranquillity, privacy and a taste of village life. Villa Io is ideal for families wanting to experience the
