Holiday villa Trullo Angelo is located in the countryside close to Ceglie Messapica and is surrounded by a well-kept Mediterranean garden. It consists of several trulli. The traditional Puglian houses with cone shaped roof are built out of limestone in a special construction style without using any mortar. Due to their characteristic construction the trulli get cold in summer and are warm and isolated in winter. Trullo Angelo still features the original architecture with stone arched top doors, an open room layout and the typical fireplace. It has two buildings - the original trullo and a separate studio. The holiday villa is furnished in country-style and has space for up to 10 people. From the inner courtyard guests enter the trullo through the living-/dining area. Four bedrooms, two bathrooms with shower/WC and a kitchen can be found in the main house. Next to the main trullo there is a separate studio with a double bedroom and a shower/WC en-suite. Only a few steps lead to the pool
