Rafal. Each house has unique aspects. The exquisite restoration allows visitors to enjoy an authentic, Majorcan ambience as well as privacy and it's high level of comfort.

After reconstructing, extending and renovation, the former stable in which farm animals (cows, sheep and pigs) were housed, it has been converted into a residential building. The structure of the old, rural, Majorcan building from the late 16th century however were maintained as well as numerous traditional Majorcan elements such as the walls, windows and the wooden beams. The idea which initiated and lead the reconstructing was to preserve and restore these ancient elements, but at the same time achieve maximum comfort to modern desires.

Additionally, the house has a separate apartment with one bedroom. This apartment features all the amenities one needs to enjoy their stay to the fullest. Shops and supermarkets can be found in the nearby towns Sa Pobla and Inca. This charming finca is an ideal place for families with children, because the pool can be fully fenced and there are plug protections, toys and babysset.
